

White River Basin Forum Speakers

Allen Carter, senior fisheries biologist for the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission. Carter is a certified fisheries scientist with 28 years' experience in fisheries with AGFC.
acarter@agfc.state.ar.us

Joe Dillard, mayor of Mountain Home. He previously served as Baxter County Judge and the director of the state Office of Emergency Services.

Steve Filipek, coordinator of the State Stream Team for the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission. Filipek is a certified fisheries scientist who has won several awards for aquatic conservation efforts.
Sfilipek@agfc.state.ar.us

Jim Gaston, owner of Gaston's White River Resort in Lakeview, Arkansas. Gaston is a member of the Arkansas Parks and Tourism Commission.

James Gilson, chief of the Customer Service Division for the Arkansas Department of Environmental Quality. Gilson is a former physics teacher and data manager for ADEQ's Hazardous Waste Division.
gilson@adeq.state.ar.us

Bethel Herrold, hydraulic engineer for the Department of Energy-Southwestern Power Administration. A registered professional engineer, Herrold also worked for the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Tulsa District.
herrold@swpa.gov

Bill Keith, manager of the Planning Section of the Water Division of the Arkansas Department of Environmental Quality. He worked for 20 years as fishery biologist with the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission.
keith@adeq.state.ar.us

John Kielczewski, hydraulic engineer for the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Little Rock District. He has a degree in forest engineering and is a registered professional engineer.
john.k.kielczewski@swlo2.usace.army.mil

Edwin D. Knight, director of the Water Pollution Control Program of the Missouri Department of Natural Resources. Knight is staff director of the Missouri Clean Water Commission.
nrknige@mail.dnr.state.mo.us

Steve Mahfood, director of Missouri Department of Natural Resources. Mahfood oversees the activities of the Department's five divisions: Environmental Quality, State Parks, Energy, Geology and Land Survey and Administrative Support.
nrmahfs@mail.dnr.state.mo.us

Roy Mahler, chairman of the Madison County, Arkansas Conservation District. Mahler is a poultry farmer and is secretary-treasurer of the state Association of Conservation Districts.
mahlerra@aol.com

Curtis Merrell, president of the Bayou Bartholomew Alliance. Besides founding the Alliance, Merrell is a retired educator, including 15 years as superintendent of the Monticello, Arkansas school district.
cmerrell@sark.net

Wally Miller, project leader, Table Rock Lake Initiative for the Missouri Department of Natural Resources. Miller's degree is in agronomy and economics. Miller works with the public to provide information that will reduce nutrient pollution in the Upper White River Basin.
nrmillw@mail.dnr.state.mo.us

Bob Morgan, nonpoint source coordinator for the Arkansas Soil and Water Conservation Commission. Raised on a poultry farm, Morgan has a degree in civil engineering and is a Professional Engineer.
robert.morgan@aswcc.state.ar.us

Brenda Puloma, project manager for the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, Little Rock District. Puloma is a project manager and lead planner for several projects in the White River Basin.
Brenda.E.Puloma@usace.army.mil

John Stark, state trout biologist for the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission. Stark has degrees in water resources and biology and manages fisheries research of the White River system.
jstark@agfc.state.ar.us

Stan Todd, assistant trout biologist for the Arkansas Game and Fish Commission. A certified fisheries scientist, Todd monitors and manages the trout fisheries of Arkansas.
stodd@agfc.state.ar.us

Christophe A.G. Tulou, principal, Christophe Tulou Associates. With degrees in biology, marine zoology and law, Tulou is former secretary of the Delaware Department of Natural Resources and Environmental Control and a former congressional assistant.
ctulou@erols.com

Richard A. Weiss, interim director of the Arkansas Department of Environmental Quality. He also served as interim director for the Department of Human Services, and as director of the Department of Finance and Administration.
weiss@adeq.state.ar.us

Randy Young, executive director of the Arkansas Soil and Water Conservation Commission. Young's degrees are in agricultural engineering and environmental engineering and he is a registered professional engineer in Arkansas randy.young@aswcc.state.ar.us