Thank you for your email we are still maintaining our permit levels at this time without the need of chemicals. We hope to continue the good results with our current measures and will notify ADEQ if we feel we need to research chemical methods for treatment to offset ammonia.

We are also going to be applying for an extension on the construction permit if it is feasible for us to do so until we have further information. We were in the process of finding an engineer and it was on the list of priorities for them to check on the process for the extension.

If you need any further information please let me know,

Sincerely,

J. L. Wagoner
