Katherine,

Although the operator was very confident in the 30 day timeframe, as described in my previous email, today he contact me and specified that the minor system repairs and testing will take 60 days. I wanted to relay this information to you ASAP, so that the department can make the necessary decision for releasing the permit to public notice.

Please contact me with any questions or concerns.

Respectfully,

Katherine,

It has been determined that minor system repairs and testing to collect actual values on dripfield capacities should take 30 days.

Please contact me back if you have any questions or concerns.

Thanks,
Barret
