My question & comment concerns the baseline data for any land application not in the original C&H permit. At least some of these land application sites are not in the Big Creek watershed.

Who will be gathering the baseline data?
When will these data be gathered? Will the data be gathered before the permit is finally approved? If not, why not? Where will the sampling sites be located?

It will not be possible to measure any increase in pollution from hog waste without baseline data. I oppose approval without these data.

Will the C & H Farm continue to use the fields in their original permit, under the new permit?

Have all of the fields being proposed for this permit been permitted previously for land application of hog waste?
