I realize this is going to be granted to proceed since the company has spent a lot of time and money preparing for its operation.

The farm is located on high ground, manure will be spread on pasture land along Big Creek. Land across from Big Creek will be fertilized also, how are they going to cross Big Creek (looks like on a ford) and therefore looks like a good place to have a mishap. I don't agree with the application of pig manure and liquid manure located to the creek.

Carry on, just my thoughts.
