Questions_Comments:

Put C&H Hog Farm General Permit ARG590000 I was told we could email but I never could find any email address. So I am using this 'contact' form. I am hearing from friends that they are smelling smells, especially from friends who live in lowland valleys along watersheds. That the smell carries for miles. Also, I used to work at Mt. Judea. The idea of all this feces being sprayed in the air where invisible germs/droplets could interfere with children is unbelievable. If you ever taught elementary, you would definitely not want children to miss P.E. !!! This entire thing has been a fiasco in that no common sense was used in making sure public comments were sought. Someone along the way must have realized there might be strong opinions and sought to keep the pig farm plans out of the public eye until too late. This was highly unethical. The law (as it was) may have been followed. But ethical common sense was not used. I even heard that this is not land that has been in someone's family for generations, that it was bought specifically for this purpose. So it's not like some guillible poor farmer is about to lose his place that grandpa owned. Big Creek is such a lovely creek, but I am sure all of those who live downriver of the pig farm now have worthless property in terms of selling it for access to a beautiful creek. So sad. Thank you for listening.
