I own 10 acres in Carroll County between Osage Creek and the Kings River. I use these rivers regularly as well as the Buffalo River. Here in Arkansas we are accustomed to being 48th, 49th, or 50th in national statistics, meaning on the low end of the public spectrum. We have an abundance of clean water here, something many states do not have. I work with the Kings River Watershed Partnership, a volunteer organization that supports the Kings and its tributaries. I have a reference for our clean waters. I do not support any changes, that will allow degradation of our waterways. I am not a scientist, so I will leave this comment by saying that I agree with the comments of BWRA in regards to these proposed rule changes. Please, let our national "ranking" in water quality remain high. We won't always have abundant water, and we all live downstream.

Thank you,
