Please reconsider your rejection of Big Creek as an impaired stream? If high bacterial counts, algae, and the horrendous smell of the area don't qualify as impaired then what does? This stream should be closely guarded since it is one of the main tributaries to our nations first (and formerly best) National River. I say formerly because since the hog farm was built, I have refused to swim or float the river but I have driven through Mount Judea and the industrial hog farm does stink.

Thank you,
