Questions Comments:

Stop bowing to public pressure and do your job based on FACTS. C&H hog farm has never been cited for a single environmental violation and there is no scientific data to link them to any impairment of Big Creek or the Buffalo. I was born and raised in the Buffalo River watershed and in my opinion the very people you bowed down to the first time, (the tourists and outsiders) are responsible for the vast majority of pollution in the Buffalo. There are also thousands of feral hogs that have direct access to ALL the streams in the watershed. Lets do something about the problems we know exist instead of worrying about ones that don't. ISSUE THE PERMIT.
