

Barnett, Mary

From: Judy Singleton <jadesing@me.com>
Sent: Monday, September 10, 2018 10:16 AM
To: WaterbodyComments
Subject: Buffalo National River

Categories: Saved to Folder, PDF Created

I want to add my tears to all the others weeping daily for the demise of our beautiful river. Where are the people in our government who are supposed to protect our waters? What rational person would think that a 6000+ pig farm in a karst area should be allowed in the first place, and then allow the insanity to continue by allowing pig-poop to be spread over farm lands which are part of a watershed area for tributaries which run into America's First National River!

What about all the businesses along the river which benefit from tourism? What about pride in the natural beauty of the "Natural State"? What could possibly be considered natural about a 6000+ pig farm existing anywhere, especially ANYWHERE in a state that calls itself The Natural State?